FRUIT GROWERS IN CONVENTION

Adams County Fruit Growers in Interesting, Instructive and Entertaining Session in their Hall. The Addresses.

With Fruit Growers' Hall, Bendersville, filled at every session the sixth annual convention of the Fruit Growers' Association of Adams County is now being held.

All of the addresses are full of practical value to those interested in fruit growing and general interest has been manifested in the lectures. The attendance is gratifying and the convention is proving a great success in every way.

The first session was held on Wednesday afternoon. The president's address was made by Robert M. Eldon and Josiah Prickett told of the work of the association during the past year as indicated by the minutes.

"Lime Sulphur Preparations for the Summer Spraying of Orchards" was the subject of an instructive talk by Prof. W. M. Scott, Pathologist in Charge of Fruit Disease Investigation, Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, Washington. The other address of the afternoon was by Hon. S. L. Weber, and is said to be an attraction that is really worth while. It comes with the earmarks of success having made a most emphatic hit at Weber's theatre, New York. Its author is a young American with fresh ideas, and it is said he has supplied his offering with new timber. The story has been told in a straight forward way and has made a strong hit for first place by reason of its simplicity.

HOUSE BURNS IN FIRE OIL STARTS

Residence Near Blue Ridge Summit Burns from Results of Trouble with a Coal Oil Lamp. Neighbors Fight the Flames.

The property of Charles Snider, of Blue Ridge Summit, was destroyed by flames shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The catastrophe was caused by the explosion of a coal oil lamp. When the lamp burst the burning oil was splashed over the floor of the building, which was of frame, about 16x20 feet in dimensions.

Before the fire could be checked the room was wrapped in flames, which soon spread to the roof and exterior of the building. An alarm was sounded and the Blue Ridge Summit fire department responded.

About 40 people assembled in a short time and assisted in fighting the conflagration. So well did they work that they saved adjoining buildings that were threatened, although the high wind prevented them from saving the burning structure.

Little furniture and few other articles in the Snider property were saved.

Mr. Snider, the owner of the property, operates a saw mill on Jacks Mountain.

On account of the scarcity of water the fire was extremely hard to fight. The Snider well was dry and all the water used was carried from the adjoining property of Frank Sheekey.

Elijah Irvin was at Bendersville last week attending the funeral of his sister.

CLOTHING CAUGHT FROM SPARKS

Mrs. Charles Flickinger, made a narrow escape from a serious burning accident Tuesday, while assisting her brother, H. A. Sell, living between Littlestown and Hanover to butcher.

Mrs. Flickinger was standing near the fire place in the outkitchen when a spark from the fire beneath the large iron kettle, ignited her clothing. The prompt action of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sell, in dashing a bucket of water on the blazing clothing probably saved the life of Mrs. Flickinger. As it was, she escaped with only slight burns on her lower limbs.

When the accident occurred Mrs. Flickinger became excited, and was in the act of rushing from the building, which would have fanned the flames, and probably have resulted fatally.

LAST DAY FOR RABBITS

Wednesday was the last day of the lawful season for killing rabbits in Pennsylvania. Under a provision of the law persons possessing rabbits killed during the open season may retain the same for a period of 30 days from the close. They may be sold during that period. Rabbits were much more plentiful during the past season than for some years, the number killed being large. Despite that fact, many rabbits have escaped the hunters and a sufficiently large stock remains to warrant an abundant supply of rabbits until next season.

The only remaining game left for hunters now is bear, black birds, doves and wild ducks. The latter may be killed until April 15, and the season for the former varieties will close on January 1.

THE Jenny Wade Museum has a stock of cushion tops on hand. Telephone orders will be delivered.

PRESENTS CHILDREN CAN MAKE.

Frog Pen-
wiper For Father and a Useful Cape
Grandma
Would Appreciate.

However nice a bought Christmas present may be, it is quite certain that as a child's gift a mother or father, aunt or uncle—indeed, any grownup
relative—would prefer something made by the little donor herself.
In this column
a few home-
made presents
which can quite easily be made by children are described, and none of them
costs more than
a trifle to make.
First of all, there is the frog pen-wiper. To make this gift a strip of light green cloth or velvet, seven inches long by three and a half wide, is required. This must be marked into four divisions. The lower portion should be lined with flannel. Sew the edges together and turn up a quarter of an inch at the bottom and glue this to a round circle of card, so that you have a bag with a cardboard bottom.
Next cut a piece of card twice the size of one of the flaps and cover it in red flannel, making a hole half an inch wide in the middle. Fold this card and after padding each flap with cotton wool sew the flaps to each side of the hinge. Two small boot buttons for eyes on the top flaps and you have something very like a wide mouthed frog sitting up. Now fill the body through the mouth hole with small shot and draw a pen through the opening.

THE FROG PENWIPER.

Useful Gift For Grandma.

A useful gift for grandma or an invalid friend is a cape made of plain or figured elderdown or outing flannel thirty-six to forty inches wide. Fold and cut material into a true square;
cut from one point to center, then cut a round opening for neck. Finish the edge by hemming with some fancy stitch with a crocheted border or bind with ribbon. Tie with bow at the neck.

Ribbon should match colors in material. For invalids there is no better wrap, as it can be put on and taken off so easily and when made of pretty colors gives a touch of brightness which is very cheery and pleasing to the shut-in.

An Easy to Make Box.

A handkerchief box is a simple present for a child to make. Cut a piece of card six inches square. Then cut four pieces each six inches long and two wide for the sides and four more six inches long and three wide for the

A HANDKERCHIEF BOX.

lid flaps. These should have one long edge straight and the other rounded.
Now on the square place a piece of cotton padding, scented with a good sachet powder, and over that a square of bright silk. Stitch this down, binding with narrow silk braid, and then pad and cover the four sides and lid flaps. Next take a piece of silk or silkette three inches wide and a yard
and a quarter long and gather it top and bottom. Hem the four sides on to the bottom and draw up the puff around the sides with a ribbon drawstring.

Two Gift Books.

Take a piece of water color paper,
any size, fold in center, paint some pretty design, flowers or scenery, and diagonally the words in gold paint.
"Guest Book." Use plain note paper for leaves and tie with ribbon to match color of design painted. Attach to this a program pencil and cord.

A baby book is made the same way,
using blue forgetmenots scattered all over the cover, blue ribbons and blue or white pencil.

Knitted Wash Cloths.

Almost all children like to crochet.
They can make really useful presents
in shape of wash cloths of heavy white knitting cotton. Make a chain of twenty-five or more stitches, according to the size liked, and work in simple crochet stitch until the rag is square. A border of blue or pink cotton can be worked into a simple shell
by the older children.

A Work Tray.

A linen covered work tray has fourteen spools of silk laced around the edge. The middle of the tray is embrodered in repousse daisy work, and there is a heart shaped pincushion.

MONEY IN QUACK GRASS LANDS.

About the last section of the country which one would think might be boomed by the real estate agent would seem to be a locality in which quack grass had gained a foothold, and yet the experience of one Minnesota farmer, whose case was related to us directly
the other day, would seem to indicate that there was an opening for some energetic as well as patriotic real estate agent. The man in question lives in the vicinity of New Richland, Minn., a section which has been afflicted with quack, more or less—quite likely more severely for the past fifteen or eight-teen years. He cleared one eighty of the pest several years ago, and by dint of much vigilance has succeeded in keeping it clean. A year ago last August he bought another eighty adjoining the home place, which had been given over to quack grass for the preceding ten years. He paid $2,000 for it, or $25.75 per acre. Although it was late in the season before he could get at it, he plowed forty acres of it early in October, raked it with a special quack rake and burned the roots. Next he went over the piece with a quack root digger, gathering and burning all the roots which it was possible to reach. The next spring he planted corn on about twelve acres, oats on a third and wheat on the remainder.
This fall he husked 300 bushels of fine corn from this twelve acres, and we know he did because we got the figures straight and have a sample of the corn before us. It is better corn than that raised on land which has been free from quack for years. He will tackle the other forty acres infested with the grass next season, and he figures that when he has given it the same treatment as he has the first forty he will not care to sell the eighty for less than $5,000, and if it is free from the pest it ought to be worth this price. It goes without saying that a fellow with flabby muscles, short in red blood or lacking in courage will hardly want to tackle the redemption of this quack grass land, yet we believe there is a first class opportunity for the fellow who is made of the right stuff to get a good farm land at a low price. If he redeemed the land he will not only have added to his bank account, but served his neighborhood and country in a praiseworthy way.

SHOULD NOT BE STAMPEDED.

Straightway following election the big packers have announced that there is going to be a gradual decline in live stock prices. Since the wish in this case is father to the suggestion, because it will enable them to buy heavily on a declining market and thus enlarge their profits—and they seem abundantly able to carry out their wishes—it is fair to assume that the decline in prices will follow. Yet the less the feeders of the country are stampeded by the announcement and the less they yield to a very natural impulse to rush their stuff to a demoralized market the more money they will save in the end and the less will the packers profit by the coup which they have sprung. There can be a decline of $1.50 per hundredweight from present prices ($6 to $7) and yet be left a very satisfactory profit in feeding corn worth 35 to 40 cents per bushel. The man who is so fixed that he can do so would far better hold his hogs and steers, especially if they are unfleshed, and sell them a few weeks later, when there is reason to believe that the market will have steadied from the present flurry. There are just as many hungry mouths to feed now as before election, and there is every reason to believe that the legiti-mate demands for meat products will be just as strong as they have been during the past two years.

THE VALUE OF OILMEAL.

While it is high priced as compared with other cereal feeds, oilmeal is the most valuable of the whole list as a means of furnishing stock with protein in condensed form. The best grades contain 30 per cent or slightly better of digestible protein, and it is because of this fact that it is worth the high price asked for it. Of the two brands of kinds of meal—old and new process—the former is cheaper at the same price because 94 per cent of the protein content is digestible, while in new process meal but 84 per cent is digestible. Mature fattening cattle may be given from two to two and a half pounds per day, while with growing young stock and pigs it may constitute one-tenth by weight of the grain ration. Dairy cows will handle from one to two pounds daily, depending upon their milk flow. It is the opinion of animal husbandry experts that there is no other feed which has so beneficial an effect on the animals eating it as does oilmeal.
Fed in proper balance with other grains, it is the most economical ration which can be fed.

FAITH IN THE WYANDOTTE.

Good Points of the Breed Explained by Successful Poultry Raiser.

In the New England Homestead F.
B. Williams of Litchfield county, Conn., a successful poultry raiser, explains as follows his faith in the White Wyandotte:

"I am making poultry my principal occupation and, like any business man, naturally wish to produce that which will return the largest profit. Formerly I tried having several of the most popular breeds and carefully watched results. One by one I discarded the other breeds and after about twelve years' experience with White Wyandottes have decided in favor of them.

"Other breeds did splendidly at times, but after averaging up year after year and for all purposes combined I found nothing to equal White Wyandottes. The birds are of blocky shape and tender flesh, making the finest of broilers and roasters, and are fit for market as broilers at an earlier age than nearly any other breed, putting on flesh from the start, while other breeds are growing an abundance of

WHITE WYANDOTTES, DOUBLE COMB.

feathers. Wyandotte pinfeathers, being white, make them easier to dress and give the carcass a neat appearance. As layers White Wyandottes are steady and will produce eggs every month in the year and many of them. The largest proportion of them will be produced when eggs sell high, therefore the profit. They are not persistent sitters, although making the best of mothers, and are excellent foragers."

The incubators are started by Mr.
Williams the middle of January, and the combined capacity is about 1,500 eggs. The hatching is continued up to July 1. Mr. Williams built a two story incubator brooder house, which he calls his chicken factory.

Burning Stumps.

In the early part of the winter bore a two inch auger hole to a depth of about three inches in the top of each stump to be removed, fill the hole with refined nitrate of potash and drive a pin tight on it. Let it remain until the spring, when the potash will be absorbed. Pour a little oil on the top of the stump and set afire. The entire stump and in a great many instances all the roots will be consumed by a slow burning.—Rural New Yorker.

Farm losses will pay for first class rural improvements. He who drains his barnyard bores a hole
into the lowest corner of his safety deposit vault.

Chemical Fertilizers.

There is one thing which all farmers who use chemicals should remember:
These chemicals should be spread as evenly as possible. They are all concentrated and will burn or injure vegetation if they are dumped in handfuls upon growing crops. They should be spread out all over the ground.

Orchard and Garden.

Take precautions against apples freezing in storage. Where there is danger from freezing set a large tub of warm water in the cellar to raise the temperature. If freezing occurs allow the fruit to thaw slowly.

The farmer who finds it cheaper to buy fruit than to raise it usually goes without it most of the time.

Plum trees set from sixteen to twenty feet apart will need good, vigorous pruning to keep them in bounds in later years.

The ground in the newly set strawberry bed should be kept stirred and rich to enable the plants to go through the winter in good shape.

A simple rule for the arrangement of dooryard trees and shrubs is never to set them in straight lines, but in groups with curving boundaries.

An ideal peach orchard location is a high, rolling elevation where the very best air drainage is obtainable, and if the land slopes toward the northwest
so much the better. Never set peach trees in a hollow.

The man who thinks it is a woman's work to keep a garden going was not built on right lines. The garden should be considered as important as any other part of the farm and treated accordingly.

Do not bury cabbage until there is danger of very hard freezing.

VENTILATION FOR TOBACCO.

Method of Curing Leaf Used by Large Growers in Pennsylvania.

The majority of the small tobacco growers thrash out their grain early, stack their straw and then use their barn mows and driveways for curing tobacco, says a bulletin on the production of cigar leaf tobacco in Pennsylvania issued by the United States department of agriculture. But the large growers usually erect separate curing sheds provided with some system for controlling the ventilation. In some cases top ventilation is secured by means of slatted ventilators set in the gable ends of the shed or in the roof along the ridgepole or by means of valved, cylindrical, metal ventilators set in the roof peak. In others side ventilation is adopted, and either vertical ventilators are made by inserting loose boards at intervals of a few feet along the sides of the shed or horizontal boards, hinged above and fastened to a common vertical lifting rod, are fixed in the sides of the shed at points near the lower end of each tier. In still other cases the floor beams project on each side beyond the foundation walls, and the wall plates rest upon the ends of these beams rather than directly over or upon the foundation walls. The floor between these two lines of walls consists of trapdoors which can be raised to secure bottom ventilation.

Very commonly the system adopted provides for both side and roof ventilators, each under control from the floor, or for bottom and top ventilators. Heating systems for the control of ventilation are very exceptional.

PROTECT YOUR FARM MACHINERY!

Farm machinery is often sadly neglected when not in use. It is not uncommon to see binders, cultivators, grain drills, plows, etc., left out all winter in the field where they were last used or in the barnyard. Here they are exposed to the sun, rain and snow. The depreciation from such exposure is more than the wear caused by use.

Keep Strings Out of Ensilage.

Have a man stand beside the feed table of the ensilage cutter and cut every band and jerk the string away. These strings cut up in short lengths and carried into the silo are not good for stock. A man not long ago lost four cows that were fed on ensilage, and the cut strings did the business. They are cut so fine and mixed so thoroughly that stock must eat them. The time of one man to do this would probably be well spent.—Iowa Homestead.

Proper Way to Feed a Horse.

The stomach of the horse is quite small—that is, it will hold about two gallons. If the horse is fed his grain first, then hay and then watered, the grain will be pushed out of the stomach before it is digested. The best way is to water first, then feed some hay and then the grain. In case the horse is warm it would not do to give all the water it would take, but it should be given a little even then.

Stability.

Teacher—Define "stability." Tommy. Tommy—"Stability" is what a man has who takes care of a stable.—Exchange.

ALL ABOARD FOR SOME QUEER RIDES!

By UNCLE BOB.

(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

COME along, now, children, and your Uncle Bob will give you a ride. What kind of a ride would you like best of all? What—aeroplane? Mercy, no! That machine that flies up into the sky and over rivers and fields and towns is too dangerous for children. It will be a long time before the men who invent things will build an aeroplane safe enough to carry little ones like you. For the present you'd just better stick to the earth and not try to go flying away into the air.

So we won't think about taking an aeroplane ride yet. Automobile, did you say? Well, Uncle Bob has no automobile for you today, but he has something that's lots more fun. A pony? Well, not exactly that, but it's something that walks.

Wait till we get the bridle on. There—take the reins and guide him. Why, what a funny bird! Yes, he's an ostrich. You never rode an ostrich, did you? Some ostriches are too bad tempered for children to ride, but this one has been tamed, and he's all right.

You don't need any saddle on him. Just sit on his shoulders, with your legs down along each side of his neck heavy load and travel for long distances without getting very tired.

How would you like to have Santa Claus put in your stocking—oh, dear no, that's not large enough—put down alongside the fireplace a nice big, fat wart hog or wild boar for one of your Christmas presents? Ugh! Well, I don't blame you for feeling that way, but all the same there is such a thing as a wild pig to use as a pony, though pigs are not very popular in that way.

RIDING A LLAMA.

There are many kinds of wild hogs. Colonel Roosevelt knows a good deal about them. He hunted the wild boar in Africa, also the wart hog, and down in Texas he has hunted the peccary, which is a sort of pig also, though not by any means so much like the kind your father may have in his pigpen as the wild boar and the wart hog are. The peccary doesn't really look pigish, but he is a pig all the same; he belongs to the great hog family, which is widely distributed over the world.

Now and then a wart hog or a wild boar is caught and tamed, so that a brave young man can ride him. The wart hog belongs to Africa. The wild boar used to be very numerous in England, but that was many, many years

THE OSTRICH RIDING PONY.

His feathers make a nice soft seat for you. He is a very strong bird, and you may have to pull hard on the reins when you want to guide him.

Would you like to have an ostrich for a Christmas present? Well, perhaps a little wagon or one of these nice auto buggies that you run with a pedal and a crank would suit you better. An ostrich that is trained to draw a buggy or carry a passenger on his back costs too much for your Uncle Bob to pay. Ostriches are real rarities, and they come high in this country.

If you think the ostrich is too frisky—and maybe he is, with his long legs and stinky gait—perhaps you'd like a ride on the back of a llama, though it would be difficult to get one of these animals for a Christmas gift and still more difficult to keep it alive and well in the United States. The llama is a sort of camel-like animal that grows in South America. It can live only where the climate is moderate. Too much cold is bad for the llama. In the western and southern regions of South America this very interesting animal lives and thrives. There are many thousands of them, just as there are many thousands of cows in the United States.

The South American people use the llamas not only for their milk and flesh food, but also as beasts of burden. The llama takes the place of the horse in some of the mountainous regions of Peru and other South American countries. He can carry a pretty ago—long before the present civilization got the upper hand in that island.

But perhaps a sled would suit you better than a wild pig? Very well, this Christmas your Uncle Bob won't try to find you a pig broken to the bridle, but will see if he can't make Santa Claus bring you a sled for Christmas. Sometimes a sled runs away and throws you, but it never bites.

Keep The Kidneys Well

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Gettysburg People Know How to Save It

Many Gettysburg people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Gettysburg citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. Charles Hardagen, 47 Breckenridge Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills an excellent kidney medicine and I am just as willing to recommend them today as I was two years ago. I was troubled by rheumatism and I also had severe pains in my head. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a supply at the People's Drug Store and commenced their use. I was cured and since then I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers. I advise anyone afflicted with kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

A ROYAL SLAVE

In the craze for sensationalism, modern authors, proceed to extremes and produce scenes that are repulsive to even the most sensational loving theatregoer. This is amply proven by the fact that plays which depend entirely upon incidents of this class are being rapidly withdrawn from the stage through want of patronage. In the successful drama, morbid sensationalism is happily not in existence and its place is taken by a stirring tale of heart interest brimful of comedy and bright specialties. From the rise of the curtain, the interest with a constant stream of mirth, music and interesting situations continuing until the concluding scenes. The cast is a capable one special scenic effects which depict life in the old Mexico are carried and serve to give atmosphere to that land of romances. At Walter's Theatre, Tuesday, Dec. 20.

MRS. AUGUSTA STETSON.

Mrs. Eddy Remembered Ex-Communicated Member of Her Church.

CHURCH GETS EDDY FORTUNE; FOE, GEM

Mrs. Augusta Stetson is Willed a Diamond Cross.

Concord, N. H., Dec. 15.—The last will and testament of Mary Baker G. Eddy was filed in the probate office for Merrimack county.

Judge Charles R. Corning received and allowed the will in common form. Executor Henry M. Baker immediately petitioned for its approval in solemn form and a hearing thereon was ordered to follow the mailing of notices as required by law.

The will filed was that executed in 1903, with codicils of that year and 1904, and with it were filed the papers relating to the family settlement of November, 1909.

After providing various sums for members of her household and friends and giving $10,000 each to her son and his children, the testator leaves her estate to the mother church.

PAY FIVE CENTS AN OATH

Profanity of Altoona Business Men Helps Salvation Army.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 15.—Finding that they were victims of the habit of profanity, eight young business men of Altoona agreed that for every oath each uttered he would contribute five cents to the Salvation Army, which is soliciting money to provide the poor children and widows of the city with a big dinner on Christmas, believing that the penalty would help to cure them.

Before closing time one had deposited 70 cents in the army's receptacle at a nearby corner, another 45 cents and a third 20 cents. Five didn't swear.

The machine was running along a river bank when it struck some obstacle, skidded and dashed into the river. The driver and another occupant were hurled out on the side opposite the river. Mrs. Edwards was caught as the auto turned over and was unable to escape.

CONGRESS KILLS OFF LEGISLATION

Both Houses Adopt Policy to Muzzle New Business.

FIGHT ON RULES RENEWED

"Buffers" Will Be Used to Keep New Legislation In the Background For Weeks to Come.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Muzzles and leashes have been placed on such members of the senate and house as desire to enter upon a program looking to the enactment of general legislation at the present session of congress.

A majority of the senate has determined upon the daily consideration of the omnibus claims bill, and the house by a decisive non-partisan majority voted to continue consideration of the bill for the revision and codification of the laws relating to the judiciary.

The two measures are regarded generally as "buffers" which will provoke sufficient debate to keep other legislation in the background. While a majority could set aside either measures at any time, opponents of general legislation are depending upon the inevitable dissensions over the business to be substituted to prevent such action.

Rules Fight Brought Up.

The question was brought up in the house with a renewal of the old fight on the rules. Representative Hughes, of New Jersey, precipitated the question by raising a point of order.

The question under consideration was whether the bill for the codification and revision of the laws relating to the judiciary, consideration of which occupied all last Wednesday, should again be taken up simply on the call of the chairman of the committee reporting the measure.

The controversy was raised by Mr. Hughes after Representative Moon, of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee on revision of the laws, had asked that the house proceed with the consideration of the bill.

Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, led the Democratic side of the house in opposing consideration of the bill. He declared that the house under the rules could decide for itself what business it should consider.

Representative Sherley, of Kentucky, declared the consideration of the bill, which is 293 pages in length and contains 286 sections, might occupy every "calendar Wednesday" during the session. The house last Wednesday reached only section 11.

After the discussion had proceeded for an hour, Speaker Cannon ruled that there were no precedents fitting the situation, but that the house should not be deprived of doing what it desired.

Therefore he ruled that the house could settle for itself whether it would proceed to consider the bill. By a vote of 145 to 51 the house decided to take up the measure.

ANXIOUS TO PROVE ELECTION UNTAINTED

Philadelphia Congressmen Annoyed by Contests.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Members of the Philadelphia delegation in the house were not a little annoyed by the latest developments in the alleged election frauds in that city.

This annoyance was caused by the filing of notice of contest against Representative McCreary.

As has been stated, the purpose in bringing the contests against Mr. McCreary and Representative J. Hampton Moore is to lay before an elections committee of the house, and the house itself finally, the condition of affairs which are said to prevail in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia members believe the action against their two colleagues is wholly for political effect, and with no serious expectation that either of them will be unseated.

Mr. McCreary said that he had no knowledge of any frauds in his district and would not countenance in any circumstances any illegal practices. He believes that he was fairly and honestly elected and is anxious to have that fact established. If there is any cloud upon the title to his seat he desires to have it cleared away.

Former Sheriff Broadbeck, from the York district, has been in Washington conferring with Democratic leaders with the idea of starting a contest against Representative Ince. It is probable that he will allege frauds.

THE MONODIET

About which we hear so much, does not mean living on one food exclusively, but on foods that harmonize.

Certain elements of nutrition are essential to health, but all these elements cannot be obtained from any one food—hence the necessity of a variety.

Deficiency of one or more of these elements, such as iron, for instance, in the blood, will cause anaemia, rundown condition and sleeplessness.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this state, change your diet, eat foods that are rich in the mineral elements of nutrition, and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, which contains no oil and supplies iron to the blood in the most easily assimilated form.

Vinol creates an appetite, aids digestion, makes pure, healthy blood. In this natural manner it builds up the run-down, weak and debilitated.

If you don't find this to be a fact we will return your money if you will try a bottle. People's Drug Store, C. Wm. Beales, proprietor, Gettysburg, Pa.

CARNEGIE'S BIG FUND FOR PEACE

Gives $10,000,000 For Perpetual Trust.

ROOT AT HEAD OF BOARD

Income to Be Used to "Hasten the Abolition of War"—After That "the Next Most Degrading Evil" to Be Attacked.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Andrew Carnegie announced his gift of $10,000,000 for the promotion of international peace.

The announcement was made at a meeting in Washington of twenty-two of the twenty-seven trustees who have been selected to handle the fund. The scope of the gift is wide. The trustees are left practically unhampered to devote the income, which will amount to $500,000 a year, in the interest of world-wide peace.

"Lines of future action," says Mr. Carnegie, "cannot be wisely laid down. Many may have to be tried, and, having full confidence in my trustees, I leave to them the widest discretion as to the measures and policy they shall from time to time adopt, only promising that the one end they shall keep unceasingly in mind until it is attained is the speedy abolition of international war between so-called civilized nations."

War Disgraceful.

Mr. Carnegie's ten million gift is designed as much for the continuance of the peace movement after he is gone as it is for its promotion now. He says:

"When civilized nations enter into such treaties as named and war is discarded as disgraceful to civilized men, as personal war (duelling) and man selling and buying (slavery) have been discarded within the wide boundaries of our English speaking race, the trustees will please then consider what is the next most degrading remaining evil or evils whose banishment—or what new elevating element or elements if introduced or fostered or both combined—would most advance the progress, elevation and happiness of man, and so on from century to century without end, my trustees of each age shall determine how they can best aid man in his upward march to higher and higher stages of development unceasingly, for now we know that man was created, not with an instinct for his own degradation but imbued with the desire and power for improvement to which, perchance, there may be no limit short of perfection even here in this life on earth.

"Let my trustees therefore ask themselves from time to time, from age to age, how they can best help man in his glorious ascent onward and upward and to this end devote this fund."

The $10,000,000 gift is in the form of bonds of the United States Steel corporation bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. This gift was made in the form of a deed of trust; but the trustees are authorized to incorporate.

Noted Men Named as Trustees.

The trustees of the fund are: United States Senator Elihu Root, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university; Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching; Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain; Albert K. Smiley, Lake Mohonk, educator and humanitarian; Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university; James Brown Scott, solicitor of the state department; John W. Foster, former secretary of state; Andrew J. Montague, former governor of Virginia; William M. Howard, congressman, of Georgia; Judge Thomas Burke, Seattle, Wash.; James L. Slayden, congressman, of Texas; Andrew D. White, former ambassador to Germany; Robert S. Brookings, lawyer, St. Louis; Samuel Mather, banker, steel manufacturer, Cleveland; J. G. Schmidlapp, railroad man, Cincinnati; Arthur William Foster, regent, University of California; R. A. Franks, banker, Hoboken, N. J.; Charlemagne Tower, former ambassador to Germany and Russia; Oscar Straus, ambassador to Turkey; Austen G. Fox, New York; John L. Cadwalader, New York; John Sharp Williams, senator-elect from Mississippi; C. L. Taylor, chairman of the Carnegie Hero Commission; George W. Perkins, of New York; Cleveland H. Dodge and Robert S. Woodward.

The gift brings the total of Mr. Carnegie's benefactions to about $180,000,000, and widens the gap between his and John D. Rockefeller's donations. Mr. Rockefeller has given about $120,000,000, all but a small part of which was for educational purposes.

EMMA EAMES ENGAGED

Famous Opera Singer Will Wed Prominent Cuban.

Paris, Dec. 15.—A morning paper announces the marriage engagement of Mme. Emma Eames, the opera singer, and the baritone, Emilio de Gogorza.

Mme. Eames is the divorced wife of Julian Story, of Philadelphia, the artist. The wife of De Gogorza was Miss Elsa Neumann. She brought suit for separation against her husband and last year began suit in Philadelphia against Mme. Eames, charging her with having alienated the affections of De Gogorza. Damages of $50,000 were asked.

Senor Emilio de Gogorza belongs to a prominent Cuban family and is related to the Cuban-Spanish families of Del Monte and Iznaga.

PLOT SECRET BLOW AT BIGGEST TRUST

Government to Prosecute the Electrical Kings.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The government's attack on the so-called electrical trust will begin before New Year's day unless present plans are changed.

On a certain date—being kept secret—between now and the beginning of 1911, a bill in equity against one section of the combine will be filed in some United States court east of the Mississippi river.

Then will begin what the department of justice considers the mammoth trust busting suit of its history, and one which involves a test of the Sherman law never brought before. The government's case will depend largely upon the interpretation of the patent laws.

One of the government's prosecutors declares that when the action is instituted it will be recognized as far eclipsing the Standard Oil case in magnitude and public importance, and one conservative estimate is that it will cost the government no less than $1,000,000 to prosecute to the end. This latter fact is said to be the answer of the department of justice to criticisms of delay.

Incandescent lights are said to be controlled by one group, copper wire by another, street car motors by still another, transforming machinery by still another and so on down the list of electrical appliances.

The government will file its first suit against one of those sections and follow it up by actions against the others as fast as investigations are completed.

22 MINERS DEAD IN GAS EXPLOSION

26 Men Entombed in Virginia Colliery.

BELIEVED TO HAVE PERISHED

Disaster Was Caused by an Open Lamp and Explosion Shattered the Draft Fans—Fire Breaks Out.

Bluefields, W. Va., Dec. 15.—Twenty-two men were killed and twenty-six entombed by an explosion in the Greene mine at Tacoma, Va., according to a report received here.

According to this report there was a great detonation that shook the earth, and as if by magic the entire population of the little town in less than a minute had become aware of the catastrophe.

The mine is owned by the Bend & Bruce Coal company and is in Wise county, 100 miles from Bluefields, W. Va., on the Norfolk & Western railroad. Relief parties with surgeons went to the scene of the disaster.

Superintendent James Browning, who entered the shaft just a few minutes before the explosion, is among the dead. The wives and children of the entombed men surround the entrance begging the rescuers to bring their loved ones out.

The explosion is said to have been caused by an accumulation of gas in the lower levels, being set fire to by an open lamp belonging to one of the miners, but this cannot be confirmed.

Word has been received that state mine inspectors are on their way to the scene of the calamity and have announced that they will make a report on conditions as they find them as soon as they reach the mine.

Late reports declare that fire has broken out in the mine, following the first explosion, and frantic efforts are being made to get some aid to the imprisoned men. It is declared that the draft fans at the entrance were shattered by the explosion, so great was its force.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF

Angered by Her Refusal to Live With Him, Lancaster Man Shoots Her.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 15.—Angered by the refusal of his wife to live with him, Jacob S. Westheffer, aged thirty-five years, shot the woman, fatally wounding her, and then killed himself.

The only witness to the murder was Florence Hillier, aged nineteen years, a daughter of Mrs. Westheffer by a former husband.

Several months ago Westheffer and his wife separated. Wednesday evening he went to her home and pleaded with her to return to him. Upon her refusal to do so he seized her and dragged her to the yard, where he shot her twice in the head with a revolver. She died half an hour later in the General hospital.

After the shooting Westheffer went to the home of his widowed mother, Mrs. Anna Westheffer. There he confessed the murder to his grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Stark, and in her presence fired a bullet into his brain.

The CHRISTMAS WHO'S WHO

Edition De Luxe,
With List of All Children in Family
Who Like to Receive Gifts

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

GRANDPA—Born a long time ago, but still takes an interest in life. Began to receive knit slippers as Christmas gifts a few years back. Would prefer something else this year, maybe a meerschaum pipe.

GRANDMA—Born a few years later than grandpa and still considerably younger. Already has on hand large stock of shoulder shawls received at Christmas. Fancies Chantrelle bonnets.

PAPA—Born long enough ago to have acquired the ability to judge cigars by natural selection; hence prefers to buy his own brand. Not old enough for gold headed canes. Umbrellas not barred.

MAMMA—Doesn't tell her age except to the census man. Still very young at heart. Deserves the best that gives can afford. Nothing too good for mother.

HOLLY—Age twenty-one or so. Has fancy tastes, but will accept with thanks anything from a Christmas card to an aeroplane. Likes to fly high anyhow, but will settle down to earth when he gets the girl.

MISS GLADYS—About nineteen now. Dolls and Teddy bears no longer receivable. Boxes of bonbons, chocolates preferred, not refused. Candy kisses acceptable, but prefers the mistletoe make. Willing to receive anything from a jeweled hatpin to an offer of marriage.

THE HEAVENLY TWINS—Born several years ago and growing rapidly. Willie's tastes run to skates, sleds and motorcycles. Millie wants so many things she hardly knows what she wants.

BABY—See family Bible for date of birth. If only six weeks old, rubber rattle thankfully received. If ten months, high chair for table. If three years, contents of entire toyshop.

Christmas In
A Scotch City

Glasgow, the commercial metropolis of Scotland, with its well nigh million in habitants, can be chosen as an interesting illustration of the manner in which one-fourth of the people of the country spend the holidays. Many days before the store fronts on Argyll street—a thoroughfare as busy as any in the land—are gayly and profusely decorated with holly and evergreens. Above nearly every entrance signs of welcome and the compliments of the season are exhibited in holly leaves. On Christmas eve the stores keep open late. Either side of the thoroughfare is a mass of blazing, cheerful light, and there is a moving mass of humanity between. But when the stores close they close until boxing day. All the working people now get their Christmas holiday.

On Christmas forenoon the lord provost or mayor presides at the annual meeting and breakfast given by the directors at the royal infirmary. His lordship makes a speech, after which there is a distribution of good things to all the patients in the large institution. Then he visits sundry other institutions for the care of the sick and poor, where there are Christmas treeing and feasting. By the way, Christmas day is one of the lord provost's busiest days. At 2 o'clock, according to annual custom for years past, he presides at the annual dinner given to from 5,000 to 6,000 poor men, women and children in the city hall, Albion street. His lordship and the city magistrates occupy the stage and take dinner with the poor. During the repast, which consists of soup, beef, an entree, plum pudding, tea or coffee and fruit, stirring Scotch airs are played on the big organ by the city organist. At the close his lordship makes a speech, which is reported verbatim in the newspapers. It is usually a masterly production.

Outwardly the aspect of the city resembles that of Sunday. Nevertheless thousands of people are moving about. The myriad of riveters in the miles of shipbuilding yards along the Clyde have come to the city with their wives and families and are attending the matinees or evening pantomime performances that have already been running. These pantomimes are a feature of city life in Scotland during the winter. Usually three open at the big theaters in Glasgow Christmas eve. They are rehearsed for weeks before. The playwright usually chooses as his theme a fairy tale. "Jack the Giant Killer," "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" and "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" have been favorite themes. As a rule, the playwright retains enough of the tale so that the young folks can recognize the characters, but taken altogether the production becomes really a dramatic burlesque of local life and character, interesting, entertaining and even elevating to old and young. Actors and actresses of renown take the leading parts, while there are dazzling costumes, magnificent scenery and a gorgeous ballet thrown in. No wonder it is that often until the middle of spring the pantomimes enjoy a continuous run. Latterly they become in a sense classics, for their libretti undergo weekly improvement at the suggestion of local wits noted for the pungency of their sayings and the fund of dry Scotch humor they possess. It is no exaggeration to say that these pantomimes are visited by some persons each night all the season through and by others fully a score of times.

Then there is the usual exodus of young men to the country at Christ mastide. It is a common saying among Scotchmen that all roads lead to London. This is changed to Glasgow in some cases. There is scarcely a family of note in the Highlands that has not a son at the universities of Glasgow or Edinburgh studying for the professions of law, medicine, the pulpit, the army or the home or foreign civil service. With what hope and pride the advent of the young student is looked for at the little railroad station up in the mountains on Christmas eve or morning! If he lives on an estate the next day he is given a side by his rustic countrymen in their annual Christmas day football match. The game is usually a stoutly contested one, umpired and refereed by the laird and heads of the estate. At the corner of the field is placed a cask of good Scotch ale, from which the players regale themselves at half time. Then the game resumes, and the second half is fast and furious. Around the ropes are the young women of the estate looking on with pleasure and discussing their choices in the dance list of the evening.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Santa Claus in the Zoo.
Said Santa Claus: "Tis Christmas eve
(The animals looked pleasant),
And each of you will now receive
His yearly Christmas present.
But I'd be glad if every guest
Would mention what he'd like the best."

The tapir said: "That pleases me.
I'll state succinctly, therefore,
If I may be so bold and free,
The only thing I care for
Would be those matches on the shelf,
With which I'd like to light myself."

His wish was granted. Then up spoke
A timid little adder:
"Sir, but a trifle it will take
To make my Christmas gladder.
A slate and pencil, if you please,
Would let me do my sums with ease."

The reindeer said, "You may believe
I'd be a happy fellow
If I were sure I would receive
A good sized umberfellow,
And also I'd like four galoches,
Yes, and a rubber mackintosh."

TRY OUR TABLE D'HOTE, THEN VOTE.

On Thanksgiving I'll carve a goose
Stuffed with rich onion dressing.
I'll shout "Amen!" for such good gifts
When parson asks the blessing.

The vegetarian of course
Will dine on puffed up rice.
He'll add a few soaked prunes, too,
And say that's just as nice.

On Christmas turkey I shall eat.
With oysters him I'll stuff.
Delicious, oh, delicious meat,
Of thee I'll stuff enough!

The vegetarian will feast too.
He'll eat some boiled potatoes,
A few stewed beans, lettuce for greens,
A can of raw tomatoes.

On New Year's I shall carve a duck
And eat the tender breast.
I'll smack my lips o'er such good luck
As I the feast digest.

The vegetarian will eat squash.
'Twill be served a la mode.
A raisin, peanut and a fig
Will his big stomach load.

Now, he and I will not argue,
But here we make a test.
We give to you our bill of fare;
You decide which is best.

Sample each well, then send your votes.
They'll all be counted square,
And he who polls the smaller vote
Has pledged to change his fare.
C. M. BARNITZ.

A COUNTERFEIT EGG DETECTOR.

Who wonders that Chief Wilkie's force gets baldheaded trying to catch counterfeiters?

Nuff to bust a punkin head.

But if you wish to catch business burglars who bamboozle buyers with rots, spots and know nots try our sure counterfeit detector.

Yes; fresh eggs sink and lie flat in water, but when wet they quickly deteriorate.

A rot doth smell through the shell, but who wishes to ruin his smeller on rots that disgust and bust?

Yes; an egg is oft internally infernal. In cold storage is that dark spotted fat yolk that breaks quickly in the watery white that is too thin to float the yolk in the center. But breaking eggs to catch deceivers doesn't pay, and our detector is so easily made and manipulated that no dealer need be caught in an egg deal, and no buyer need be uncertain who sold him rots and spots, and no fancier need waste incubator heat on poor eggs.

An egg at laying is full and clear except the yolk shadow, which is darker in grass fed eggs.

As it cools it begins to evaporate, the air cell forms, and the larger this is the older the egg.

Cold storage is known by its big cell.

When the light shows an egg black it's a black rot or a chick.

When it shows a spot it's a spot rot and may be moldy.

When contents are watery and yolk and white mix and float it's a white rot or sour egg.

When yolk is dark and blurred, when a reddish spider floats, when there are wavy red lines, when there is a red ring with a black dot, the egg has been under incubation.

There's so much in some eggs, but a fresh egg is easily detected.

The shell does not shine, the air cell is small, and the egg is clear, except the yolk shadow.

DON'TS.

Don't be cruel. Nero fiddles while Christians burn, but Neros always get their turn.

Don't pose as goody-good. The goody-good who sits up front and gets off his self righteous stunt will get a front seat down below, where all base hypocrites must go.

Don't lay stress on the word "fresh" in selling eggs when they are stale unless you refer to yourself, for that word certainly does fit the fellows who think they can cheat buyers and not be branded cheats and liars.

Don't be ruled by the signs of the zodiac, but by the signs of the times. The slogan now is "honesty, the sine qua non." While voters are turning the rascals out and the churches are refusing tainted money, the buying public is demanding untainted food, full weight and fair price.

It Reminded Him.

"The best remedy against a lapse of memory is the piece of thread tied about the finger. But there is a well authenticated case of a man whose wife tied a piece of thread around his finger in the morning to remind him to get his hair cut.

On his way home to dinner he noticed the piece of thread. "Yes, I remember," he said and, smiling proudly, entered the usual shop and sat down before the accustomed artist.

"Why, I cut your hair this morning, sir!" said the astonished barber.

Oath That Binds the Burmese.

Perjury having been rife in Rangoon courts because no form of oath existed which the Burman considered binding, the government prescribed a formula which is a queer admixture of Buddhism, Brahmanism and Shamanism. Here are phrases from it, picked at random: "If an untruth passes my lips, may all the gnats that live in lakes, ponds and brooks and the gnats of the five great rivers of India destroy me. May curdled blood pass my lips rather than a lie, and may I die vomiting blood, my body bent in two."
